Ignore MAC Address on BioDigitalPC® 9 with CentOS 6.X

HOW TO: Ignore MAC Address on the BioDigitalPC 9 with CentOS 6.X

Login to your CentOS 6.X installation

At the command-line enter: yum install biosdevname

> Note: This will probably do an update

Edit your grub.conf file with your favorite text editor: nano /etc/grub.conf

At the end of your kernel line add biosdevname=1 at the end to activate the new package

Save and exit from grub.conf

Reboot

At this point you will have to re-do your network scripts file(s) located in /etc/sysconfig/network-scripts

> From the command-line enter: ifconfig -a to find the ethernet's new name
